Clinic Information: All attendees will be rotated throughout the day to each clinician. Groups will be based on general experience levels. A maximum of 100 attendees will be accepted, first come, first serve. The target group for attendees will be those at novice / intermediate level exhibitors and horse enthusiasts looking to learn extra ways to clean up their appearance, horse, and riding for the show ring or home.

Clinicians:

- Pleasure / Equitation: In competition, a wide variety of classes are labeled as "Pleasure" or "Equitation" with judging standards based on the concept that horses or ponies exhibited should be well-mannered and thus a "Pleasure" to ride. Equitation is the art or practice of horse riding or horsemanship. Classes in this division are clearly marked as Equitation classes and normally involve executing a pattern. Participants will work on breaking down patterns for better comprehension, as well as correcting posture and leg position while ring.
- Halter / Showmanship: While halter is judged on the horse or pony's conformation, showmanship is executed on the ground and also requires a pattern similar to equitation. Participants will learn how to properly "set" the horse's feet, work on pivoting, and practice patterns.
- Equine Appearance: Presenting a horse to be judged requires the animal to be properly groomed. During this clinic, participants will learn proper grooming, braiding, and clipping techniques suitable for their breed. Participants will also work on different tips and tricks to help clean up the horses appearance.
- Rider and Tack Appearance: For every beautiful horse, must be an equally groomed handler/rider and equipment. During this clinic, participants will be able to learn how to create a "show bun", make sure clothes are fitted for the division, as well as different tips to create a winning look for themselves and equipment.
- Veterinarian and Feed Nutritionist: Representatives from both will be onsite to answer any questions. Seminars from both will take place during small breaks.

The Indiana Horse Council Foundation is very excited to debut this event to educate and promote the equine industry in a fun atmosphere. Please join us for a great time!
