Remittance Information: Please make all checks payable to: Indiana Horse Council Foundation. Please mail all payments to: Indiana Horse Council Foundation, PO BOX 30892, Indianapolis, IN 46230. Be sure to include Clinic Attendees Application with payment.

Clinic Information: All attendees will be rotated throughout the day to each clinician. Groups will be based on general experience levels. A maximum of 50 attendees will be accepted, first come, first serve. The target group for attendees will be those at novice / intermediate level exhibitors and horse enthusiasts looking to learn extra ways to clean up their appearance, horse, and riding for the show ring or home.

Clinics Available:

- Pleasure / Equitation: In competition, a wide variety of classes are labeled as "Pleasure" or "Equitation" with judging standards based on the concept that horses or ponies exhibited should be well-mannered and thus a "Pleasure" to ride. Equitation is the art or practice of horse riding or horsemanship. Classes in this division are clearly marked as Equitation classes and normally involve executing a pattern. Participants will work on breaking down patterns for better comprehension, as well as correcting posture and leg position while ring.
- Halter / Showmanship: While halter is judged on the horse or pony's conformation, showmanship is executed on the ground and also requires a pattern similar to equitation. Participants will learn how to properly "set" the horse's feet, work on pivoting, and practice patterns.
- Appearance: Presenting a horse to be judged requires the animal to be properly groomed. During this clinic, participants will learn proper grooming, braiding, and clipping techniques suitable for their breed. Participants will also work on different tips and tricks to help clean up both rider and equine appearance.
- Pole Work: Not just for jumping. Learn ways to enhance your skills, time your strides, and improve your communication with your horse with simple pole exercises for all disciplines and levels.

The Indiana Horse Council Foundation is very excited to debut this event to educate and promote the equine industry in a fun atmosphere. Please join us for a great time! If you have any questions, please call Tara E.A. LaFave at 317-696-4619 or email at Tara.LaFave@gmail.com
